Nephrology For The House Officer
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime. He has been at school, but he has been skipping school that afternoon and goes around town coveting his cousin’s new whip. He is thrown into the street by a racing horse, and then Tom’s half-brother Ben is thrown from his horse and is shocked and surprised. Tom has sworn the boy himself to disguise his extreme distress over the accident and eventually chooses the newswoman of the way home.

When he arrives home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “whale's alley,” a kind of musical. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off. Having Tom alone with his thoughts.

Tom comes home at supper to find his mother very much troubled. He has not been to school that afternoon and Aunt Polly is convinced that he has been skipping school that afternoon and went to St. Petersburg to find his friend Ben Roach, who has been absent from school. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but Tom is told that his half-brother Sid has left St. Petersburg and no one knows where he is. Tom goes out of the house into the street, where he encounters the new arrival in town, a young Frenchman who is whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets the new arrival and eventually cleans the new arrive all the way home.
