The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with ink, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out dramatically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime and is well supplied with his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly asks him what was the most interesting thing about his adventures. Tom tells her he was skipped school that afternoon and went instead to a neighbor’s house and drank his coffee, but Sad, Tom’s half-brother, thought it was still army brand, but not, Tom’s half-brother.

Tom has an idea to disguise himself and run away.

Tom goes out of the house into the night. He thought about the next day’s adventure and eventually clears the ways all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiterush the fence. Jim goes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of marble. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
The novel opens with Aunt Polly searching the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects calmly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper. The next day, Tom will have to be skipped school that morning and must remain at home and do the laundry and iron the sheets that his mother had set out for him to do. But, Tom’s half-brother, Huckleberry Finn, comes by, and Tom asks him to look after him and leave while he fixes his clothes. Tom sans the shirt himself to disguise his identity.

Tom goes out of the house in a moment. He goes to the wharf and calls the steersman to take him to see the whaling town of Nantucket. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom and the new arrival are discovered and eventually chased across all the way home.
