Subverting The Leviathan Reading Thomas Hobbes As A Radical Democrat
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's unruly behavior and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. His mother is pleased to see him, as she has heard about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells him that he will be skipped school that afternoon and sent on a long journey. Tom is dismayed, but Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom has earned the chub himself to disgrace his

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly asks Tom out to white-wash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the white-washing in return for a "white alley," a kind of noose. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
