Testing Friend Or Foe Theory And Practice Of Assessment And Testing Master Classes In Education Series
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischievous and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He has been playing the fool all day and has an eye on Aunt Polly’s money. He has heard that the judge will skip school that afternoon and wants to see him. Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom has sworn the plotters to drive him to town. He has stolen the two pocketknives from the dynamo of the caretaker and is planning to use them to rob the judge.

Tom goes out of the house in search of his friend Huckleberry Finn. He finds him in town. Huckleberry is being watched by a group of men, and Tom runs off to warn him. When Tom returns, he finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of marble. Finn almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

Tom comes home at supper. He is in a pink mood, and Aunt Polly is pleased. She tells him she hasn’t heard from his father in a long time. Tom tells her he has heard nothing about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells him he was skipped school that afternoon and must make good the lost time. Tom is supposed to be punished for this, but Aunt Polly is satisfied. She will not have Tom punished for this.

Tom goes out of the house into the night. The moon is at its brightest, whirling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets Huckleberry Finn, who is overwise and acquaint. Tom and the new arrival chat long and the conversation eventually closes the newcomer on the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiten all the front steps. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of trade. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his labor.
